FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1903.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

A GAIN OF 400

In the daily circulation of the Times since Jan. 1st is something no other Washington county daily can show.

The circulation statements of the Times can always be verified by anyone who so wishes. Press room, circulation books, paper bills and all that pertains to the circulation of the Times are open to the inspection of all. Is there any other Washington county daily that will show up in like manner?

A party of disgruntled negroes of Boston have declared that they are "dissatisfied" with Booker T. Washington. It is perhaps needless to explain that the ring-leaders of this dissatisfaction are the men who recently acted so disgracefully by attempting to break up a meeting addressed by the famous negro. Booker T. Washington is head and shoulders above his traducers in every respect, and those men only belittle themselves when they attempt to bring disrepute upon him. Events have proven that there is no safer or better example for the negro to follow than that of Mr. Washington.

In the two years that he has been the executive head of the country Theodore Roosevelt has quite fully lived up to the horoscope of his career. While there have been slips—that president is rare who does not make some mistakes—the general conduct of his important affairs has been satisfactory to his friends and partisans. So few real and forbidding faults can be found in him that his opponents are straining to their utmost to find things that will defeat him at the next election. However, bigger faults than have yet been shown will have to be produced to beat him in the coming contest for re-election. The fact that the monied interests of Wall street are opposed to him because they fear what he may do is the strongest point in his favor, as will be shown when the voters register their choice.

The agony is over. The international yacht race of the year 1903 is history. The American boat is the winner. And the famed yachting trophy could not be "lifted." Such is the result of the contest between Reliance and Shamrock III, a contest which lacked, unfortunately, the prime requisite—that is, a fair degree of equality between the yachts. So marked was the division of equality that the event lapsed into a mere farce, with the only question in all the races as to whether the Reliance would finish in the time limit of five and one half hours. The British boat was hopelessly outclassed. And for a solution of the cause of that we must turn to the words of Sir Thomas Lipton himself who declared that the yacht building skill is on this side of the Atlantic, and that so long as the Herreshoffs continue to build American cup defenders there will be no question as to the boat which will cross the line first. That is really the secret of American success. Ability to sail the yachts makes some difference, but even Capt. Barr himself on board the Shamrock could not bring that boat across the line a winner, and we doubt much if he would have greatly surpassed the showing made by Capt. Wringe. The result of the contests was foreseen by yachting experts before the first race was sailed. For Sir Thomas Lipton who has three times failed to realize the ambition which he cherished. Americans have nothing but a feeling of the greatest admiration.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

Arthur Woodbury of Hardwick, owner of Ethan S., record 2:20, will campaign the horse this fall. In days gone by Ethan S. was one of the best trotting stallions in Vermont, and has won a great many races. Ethan is almost old enough to vote but he is full of fire and grit yet, and may make some of the youngsters hurry.

One of the most interesting features of the fall fairs on the east side is the exhibition of the "King of Barnet" and the "Queen of Barnet." The king is a well developed steer three years and ten months old, whose height is 10 hands, whose girth is 8 feet and whose weight is 2040 pounds. The Queen is a modest little heifer, a month or six weeks old, less than 22 inches high and less than 35 pounds in weight. These two extremes meeting under canvas are attracting many visitors. They are the property of Josiah Kennerson of Barnet.

The number of cattle tested in Vermont under the new law since January 1, approximates 9,000. The number for the first six months was 8,000, which Secretary V. L. Spear of Randolph says is the largest number ever tested in the same period of time in Vermont. The number of cattle found diseased and condemned for the first six months was about 600, or 7 per cent, which is about the same average as in the past. During the month of December, when there was no cattle commission, in the neighborhood of 1,500 applications for tests were made, and these have been cleaned up, also most of those made since that time.

At the recent Veterans' reunion held at Weirs, N. H., two war veterans had special attention and were favored with seats on the grand stand within a few feet of Gen. Miles. They were Thomas F. Davis of Nashua, N. H., and John M. Goodwin of Newbury. They were veterans of the war with Mexico. Veteran Goodwin was a sergeant in the Ninth regiment of volunteers recruited in New England for the war with Mexico, and commanded by Col. Truman B. Ransom, one of the early presidents of Norwich University. Mr. Goodwin was in the battle of Chapaultape, Sept. 13, 1847, and was near Col. Ransom when he fell, and helped to remove his body from the battlefield. He is 85 years old and had not met his comrade, Davis, for 54 years.
